A Big Blaze.

An alarm of fire from box 29 Tuesday evening called the fire department to the premises occupied by Dr. C. H. Gilbert, 153 Franklin street, where a barn used as garage for an automobile, was on fire. It is said that the explosion of a lantern in the barn ignited a five-gallon can of gasoline. The building was totally destroyed, together with its contents, including a new automobile and furniture stored in the building. The damage was estimated at about $2,000, partly covered, it is said, by insurance.

In trying to extinguish the flames Dr. Gilbert was severely burned about the hands and face. Dr. Moore was sent for and attended his injuries.

When the firemen reached the scene the barn was a mass of flames. Beside the barn was a large chicken coop, in which were a number of fowls and pigeons, many of which were burned.

The blaze could be seen for miles around and hundreds of persons were attracted to the place. When it was seen that the structure was doomed the firemen directed their attention to saving adjoining property.
